

STRAWBERRY FRITTERS

Barbara Scherer

Colonial Williamsburg Foodways Department
from an 18th Century Cookbook of a French Family

Make a paste with some flour, a spoonful of brandy, half a glass of white wine, the whites of two eggs beat, and green lemon-peel shred fine; mix it well, neither too thick nor too thin; it should rope in falling from the spoon : dip some large strawberries into it, fry them, and glaze them with a salamander.